Your Book Report & my grading procedure:

Studies have proven reading a minimum of 30-45 minutes per day will increase your capacity for understanding what you read over time. This is daily homework.

Directions on how to correctly and completely manage your reading assignments for full credit:

1. You have three (3) reading assignment grades per nine weeks – you will be given all the due dates at the beginning of each nine weeks. Put these dates in your planner! In addition, you will be given one copy of each handout required to complete your reading assignments for each nine weeks. If you misplace your handouts, you must go to your teacher's website and print out a new copy. There are no extra copies.
    A. You have one week to make your book selection and tell your teacher, in order to receive full credit you must turn in a book report on the book you selected.
    B. Your teacher will assign which one of the three projects will be due on each date.
    C. Attach to the top of each project a completed Reading Program Log/Grade Sheet. You must complete the entire page then have it signed by a parent/guardian. This will count as part of your grade. Points will be deducted for each part of the form that is not completed, this includes the parent signature section. Projects turned in without the Reading Program Log/Grade Sheet will not earn higher than an 83%.
2. ALL GRADES ARE FINAL – YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR GETTING YOUR ASSIGNMENTS IN ON TIME! Remember, your teacher will not accept late work, unless you are absent on the day it is due, and then it will be due on the day you return. If you are on a planned absence, like a band/chorus/field trip, or a family vacation, it is your responsibility to hand in your reading assignment in advance.
3. All resources to complete the reading project will be posted on your teacher's website. wbms7ela.weebly.com

I have received, read and understand the requirements for completing all three reading projects for each nine weeks. Print, sign and return to your ELA teacher.

Student Print Name: _____ TB _____

Student Signature: _____

Parent Signature: _____